What is the Girl Scout Gold Award?

The Girl Scout Gold Award is the most prestigious award that Senior and Ambassador Girl Scouts can earn. Each Gold Award project solves community issues and improves lives. The Gold Award process builds personal leadership skills and inspires others to take action within their communities.

Do you know why girls strive for Gold?

Since 1916, the Girl Scout Gold Award, the organization's highest award, has represented excellence and leadership for girls everywhere!

The Girl Scout Gold Award is the highest leadership award a Girl Scout can earn. Less than 6% of all Girl Scouts become Gold Award Girl Scouts.

A growing number of colleges and universities across the country offer scholarships to girls achieving the Girl Scout Gold Award.

In recognition of achievement, a Gold Award Girl Scout immediately rises one rank in any of the U.S. military branches.

Other roles within the Gold Award Committee

- Review Gold Award proposals
- Counsel girls who need help developing their projects. You need to be a mentor first for this role

Mentorship

There are only a few experiences more rewarding than sharing your passion and expertise with girls as they learn, advocate for their community, and grow into our leaders of tomorrow. Gold Award Mentors positively influence and provide direction for the young women as they tackle issues within their community and strive to improve the lives of others.

A Mentor is...

- A positive role model
- Good listener
- Caring person
- Good communicator
- Patient
- Attentive
- Committed
- YOU!
